PUBLIC GAMING IN New OBLEAMS.—For the first time in many years gambling, sanctioned by legal authority, was last evening to be seen in New Orleans; for at 59 St. Charles-street, was then thrown open to the public the first licensed gambling, salcon provided for in a recent enactment by the State Legislature. Approaching the spot last evening we saw quite a number of people standing on the aljoining sidewalk, down upon which shone the light of a bright lamp, illuminating the figures "55." The bystanders and passersby now and then pushed open the green buize doors to peer in at the great crowd which had gathered within. Eutering, one saw a motley assemblage, most of them playing, many only looking on. The room is not large. The walls are handsomely papered, handsome chandeliers are pendent from the ceiling, and along a portion of one side of the room a bar with its glittering array of many nued glasses and ornaments attracts the visitors attention. There are courteous and sieck colored men in waiting. And the crowd—what a heterogeneous gathering it was—men with mugs scarred by viscissitudes and conflicts innumerable; men with quiet, gentlemanly mier; respectable men and rognes: men who dread a glance viscissitudes and conflicts innumerable; men with quiet, gentlemanly mien; respectable men and roques; men who dread a glauce from the police; men who can look anybody in the eye—all were there, some betting, some wondering whether they should bet or not, and some firmly resolved not to bet at all. There is a ronde table pearest the door. It is as large as a billiard table and around it alone were crowded two or three score of players. were crowded two or three score of players. Then there is a roulette table, a faro table and two or three other tables, all interesting evidently to the players, who swarm about them, making locomotion about the apartment anything but easy. Everything was quiet and thing but easy. Everything was quiet and orderly, however, although no police on were visible. CLOSING DAYS—THE EDUCATIONAL SYSTEM—PUB-LICATION OF LEGAL NOTICES-A COLORED AD-JUTANT GENERAL.

[FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.] COLUMBIA, S. C., March 22 .- The solemn agreement to adjourn on Wednesday, 24th in stant, is not likely to be revoked, as there is a very general desire to get away. Several bills of importance will have to go over to the next session. Among these are a bill for the care of the poor; a bill to amend the charter of certain villages, towns and cities in the State, and the educational bill. Senator Jillson, superintendent of education, has worked earnestly to inaugurate a well-balanced system of education and free schools for the State, and was warmly supported by the Senate. His efforts. however, have been thwarted by parties who managed to get through a bill in the House entirely subversive and upsetting the whole of the present excellent arrangement of the freeschool system established in Charleston and elsewhere just previous to the breaking out of the war. The Houses therefore not being able to agree, both bills have been laid on the table. This morning Senator Jillson submitted an able report, from which the following paragraphs are taken:

The Committee on Education, to whom was referred a bill from the House of Representatives entitled "A bill to establish and maintain a system of public schools for the State of State of South Carolina," report that they are averse to the passage of said bill for the following reasons, to wit:

1st. That it is very deficient and imperfect in its arrangement and detail.

2d. That its provisions are totally inadequate to meet the average incident, to the eatable to meet the exigencles incident to the estab-lishment and maintenance of a sound, liberal and progressive system of common school edu-

3. That some of its provisions are unequal, unjust and unrepublican. The provisions in section 9 which empower the School Commissioners of the County of Charleston to appoint a school director from each ward of the city of Charleston, are so glaringly unjust and un-wise as to be apparent to the most cursory observation. The City of Charleston has already a well organized and well regulated system of common schools, and an efficient Board of School Commissioners, who should

The following is the veto message of the Governor on the act to provide for the uniform and proper promulgation of all legal and public potitions.

STATE OF SOUTH CAROLINA. )

STATE OF SOUTH CAROLINA, EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, COLUMBIA, March 22, 1869.

To the Honorable the senate of South Carolina: SENATORS—I respectfully return to your honorable body, in which it originated, "An act to provide for the uniform and proper promulgation of all legal and public notices" without my approval, for the following reasons:

In the first place, I deem it unnecessary, as there has been no complaint or evidence ad-there has been no complaint or evidence adduced that the system at present existing is not amply sufficient and satisfactory for its purposes.

In the second place, I consider it injudicious in unposing upon a particular State officer, in addition to his present duties, which are sufsiciently cherous, a large amount of labor which legitimately belongs to his colleagues in the seyeral departments of the State government, and to the local authorities in their respective counties. The county officers, especially, whose duty it is to advertise the legal notices, may be supposed, from their local pecially, whose duty it is to advertise the legal notices, may be supposed, from their local knowledge, to be better advised of the standing and circulation of their neighboring journals than persons at a distance. To them the constitution and laws have entrusted the direction and supervision of county affairs and county expenditures, and until they are shown to be incompetent or untaithful. I deem the part of wisdom and sound policy for the State to be incompetent or untaitafal, I deem it the part of wisdom and sound policy for the State to interfere with them in the discharge of their duties, or intermeddle with strictly county matters, as little as is absolutely necessary. In the third place, the designating of certain newspapers as "official organs" of the State, and of the counties, I consider highly inexpedient and improper. With but a single exception, every secular newspaper in the State is inmical to the existing State government. I am unwilling to endorse their misrepresentations, or to increase their power of mischief, by conferring upon them the name or character of "official organs" of the State or counties. Necessity compels their use to g we circulation of "official organs" of the State or counties. Necessity compels their use to give circulation to our legal notices, which of themselves sufficiently indicate their official character, and as the object of advertising is publicity, the officers interested in the several localities are the best judges of what newspapers will most effectually accomplish their object and satisfy the requirements of law.

For these reasons I feel constrained to withhold my approval of this act, and respectfully return it to your honorable body.

I have the honor to be,

Very respectfully,

ROBERT K. Scorr, Governor.

A GREAT BRIDGE. - Work on the bridge over the East River, between New York and Brooklyn, will soon begin. The New York Sun of the 12th inst. says concerning this magnificent enterprise :

The board of consulting engineers adjourned yesterday, after a careful examination of the plans and theories of the constructing engineer, Mr. Roebling. The first point on which they unan mously decided was that there is nothing impossible in the building of a suspension bridge of so great a span as sixteen hundred feet. On the Brooklyn side there is a substratum of boulders which the current cannot act upon or wash away. But on the New York side the foundation would have to be laid upon a quicks and. The borings showed that this quicks and is not a recent deposit, but the original decomposed rook which has lain numberless ages just where it is now. The weight of each tower is to be seventy-five thousand tons. To distribute this vast weight so that no part of the pressure on the bore shall be over four tons per foot, Mr. Roebling proposes that the area of the foundation shall be one hundred and sixty-five feet long and one hundred feet broad. This area will be composed of huge timbers resting on the sand and bearing the masonry work of the tower upon it. The timber will be twenty feet thick, and this mass of twenty feet by one hundred and sixty-five feet by one hundred and sixty-five feet by one hundred feet will be securely holted into one solid frame, so that the weight of the tower above can never defiect it in the slightest degree at any point. As to the durability of the timber, he uniform judement of the board is that when sound timber is imbedded, free from fluctuations of temperature, and at a depth below the action of that tides, it is simply indestructible and everlasting. Mr. Roebling's plans flaving been approved, the committee will begin work without delay.

THE NEW THEATER

TO THE EDITOR OF THE NEWS. In common with the great mass of your readers, I was delighted to learn, through your lively and go-ahead paper, that a theatre for Charleston is at last a fixed fact, and that the project is to be carried into effect with so little delay. It is to be hoped that a little extra expense will not be spared to render it a complete job-an opera house which, in all its appointments, shall be an ornament and a credit to Charleston. No one who is familiar with the dimensions and arrangements of the best and most comfortable Northern theatres, and who has seen the interior of the Adger building, can fail to have noticed the remarkable adaptability of that fine structure for conversion, at moderate cost, into a first class temple of the drama; and it would certainly prove false economy in the end to omit any feature from the plan of alteration that would add to the completeness and elegance of the edifice. Let the stage be so roomy, in respect to heighth and depth as well as width, as to meet every exigency of the scenic effects which form so attractive an adjunct of the modern drama, and, above all, let ready and abundant means of egress be provided, so that all may feel that the theatre is a safe as well as an attractive resort.

We all know how handsome a revenue the patchwork theatre of Hibernian Hall has paid the society, and this, too, through seasons of unexampled duliness and business torpor; and now that our city is waking up, regaining her lost trade and striding ahead in the race of commercial progress, no one can doubt that a good theatre, which shall induce first-class companies to visit our community, and be worthy the support of our own citizens and those who come among us for purposes of trade, travel, health or pleasure, will be one of the most profitable investments in which capital can be employed. Tue News has already shown, in a striking light, the important influence that a fine theatre would indirectly have upon the prosperity of our city; and should the enterprising proprietor of the Adger building feel indisposed to supply the requisite amount of money to execute the alterations in fitting style, a few of our leading merchants wo ld surely find their account in stepping forward and helping on the work as a matter of

AFFAIRS IN THE STATE.

Marton. The residence of Mr. Thomas Harllee was entirely consumed by five on Sunday night last—doubtless the work of an incendiary.

Anderson. Andersem.

A correspondent of the Abbeville Press has lately visited the flourishing cotton factory near Pendiston village, and says of it: "The machinery is of the newest and most improved description, making the best fabrics with the least expenditure of labor. They run two thousand spindles, and the profits for one year were such as to enable the proprietors to double the capacity of the establishment. We would be glad to see the day when our district will beast of a factory so profitable to its proprietors, and so beneficial to the public."

The Barnwell Sentine! says: "Whenever we have inquired of the pairers and farmers of our country about then Tailiness for this year, they say that they will be sure of a plenty of provisions. They are more particular than usual as to these crops—using more manure of home manufacture, as well as town stuff on them. Some of the best of them say that it is better to make corn at a cost of two dollars per bushel on the farm, than to pay one dollars a bushel in town for it. This may seem a little odd at first glance, but when the short measure they get, the hauling, freight and outward bound money is placed on one side for the "corcharn shelled corn, and on the other, their cob, corn, shucks, fodder, peas, vines, &c., the fine crab grass and crowfoot, it appears that there is money in it. This vines, &c., the line crab grass and crowtoot, it appears that there is money in it. This kind of talk from them is gratifying, and leads us to believe there is hope of abatement of the cotton fever. Few of them are so pushed about money matters that they are willing to risk a great deal of future comfort and happiness to make a big crop of cotton, when a big crop always sells for a little price. Those who tried the big crop plan in 1867, paid pretty dearly for it. They learned that there was no money in it—if there was, they didn't see it, for it went into other people's pockets. We are glad to learn also that they are bringing in a fluer breeds o. hogs and cattle. A pig that will be large enough for a good bacon hog at ten and twelve months old, can be kept up and attended to at a cost much less than the town meat, which he will net when smoked. Hogs cannot be raised any more in the range like in other times, ualess a swincherd is employed, and one of them can't keep up with the long-legged, plney woods breed."

STRANGE NUPPIALS—AN ANGRY HURBAND

STEANSE NUPTIALS—AN ANCEY HUSBAND PARTS WITH HIS WIFE AT THE ALTAR.— ome time since a well known young gentlemen appeared at one of our metropolitan churches with a very beautiful young lady, and, invoking the services of the minister, was immediately united to her in marriage. The lady appeared deeply agitated, and there was a stern determination visible on the countenance of the youth—a pale angry face—eviceing anything but joy in the nuptials. As soon as the ceremony was concluded the min turned to the lady with the remark: "I have kept my promise now—you are married to me; but I will never look on your face again."

There was a frantic appeal in the girl's actions and tears; she begged, implored him to recall his words—promised some wild things better left unprinted—and then sank fainting to the floor. The man turned on his heel and quitted the apartment. What did it mean?

The simple relation of facts look like the coloring of romance, yet are they true in every particular. When it is further stated that the parties are of high "social position, have numerous relations, and that they were utterly unattended, the mystery will appear more strange. Their friends have tried vainly to reconcile the mitter. An obstinate silence greets every appeal in behalf of the lady, and she, if indeed she can, refuses any explanation.

Louisiana iugar Crop.—A private letter from Louisiana says: "The winter here has been extremely mild (or open, as you say, or soft as might be said) everywhere, it appears from all accounts. With us it has been very wet. We have seen very little ice, but have been deluged with rain, which first impeded our cane-grinding, and now prevents our cane-planting. Our planters have had a hard time with their sugar-making this winter, but the yield has been more than commonly satisfactory. I did not expect a crop of more than 80,000 hogsheads. Never was the cane known to yield so much. The culture this year will be very much augmented, and preparations are being made to plant a large crop. All the planters that made sugar last year are increasing their culture, and places that have been abandoned since the war are now being worked. Should the weather prove favorable, I look for a crop of 250 000 to 300,000 nogaheads, and at prices that are likely to rule next winter—in view of the revolution in Cu a—they will be worth double the number to us." —At White River Junction, Vi., a few days since, four couples amused themselves at an evening party by going through the forms of a mock marriage. Two days later, to their consternation, they discovered that, as far as the law went, they were all legally married. The gentleman who performed the ceremocy was a magistrate of a neighboring county, and supposed at the time that his jurisdiction in matrimonial affairs could not prevail outside his own jurisdiction. It seems, however, that an old state statute, such as that revamped to trouble ex-Secretary Stewart, was discovered, which established the legality of the marriages beyond a doubt. The unwilling brides and bridegrooms are in depaffiction. One gentleman was expecting to be married to a lady in Montpelier in two weeks. Eminent legal counsel have been consulted, and give the opinion that the Legislature must pass an "enabling act" to get the parties loose again.

The dyspeptic millionsire who has tried all the potions of the medical profession in vain. and believes his complaint to be incurable, would ndigestion, and thus enabled to enjoy the other half. Of course he would. Perhaps HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS has been recommended to such a sufferer. Possibly he has turned from the friend who made the suggestion with a sneer, intimating that he has no faith in any "patent medicine." If this has been the case, so much the worse for him. His incredulity looms him to a life of misery. All the luxuries which wealth can purchase are at his command. Not one of them can give him pleasure. His own rational obstinacy is his bane. The masses happily for themselves, are less ief, as well as bigoted credulity, and a golden mean between the two, which men and women who are gifted with common sense adopt and profit by. These are the class that patronize and recommend HO TETTER'S BITTERS. Why do they app ove this famous anti-dyspeptic and sati-bilious prepara-tion? Simply because they have not been too much the slave of senseless prejudice to give it a fair trial, and have found that when all other tonics, stimulants and stomachies failed, it produced the desired effect. "Strike, but hear," said the Roman sage, when his ignorant enemies were assailing him. "Doubt. but try," says the man who has been cured of indi-but try," says the man who has been cured of indi-gestion, or bliqueness, or intermitient fever, by the litters, as he relates his experience of the medicine to his invalid friends. Whoever is so wedded to his own foregone theoretical conclusions, as to decline to test the properties of a medicine endorsed by the testimony of intelligent men in every walk of life, and approved by the people at large, deserves to suffer.
